JERSEY.—St. Aubin. The harbour of St. Aubin, now shallow and deserted, was, in the time of Sir George Carteret, who was Lieutenant-Governor of the Island of Jersey in the reign of Charles I., crowded with vessels of all sorts from all countries, but relieved of their cargoes. Sir George carried on a privateering war against English trade, and thus filled the harbour with ships. To-day, St. Aubin is happily more famous as a resort of tourists.
